

Stop the break-up of our NHS

Our NHS as we know it is in grave danger of becoming completely privatised.

Whole departments are being put under the control of “Wholly Owned Subsidiaries”.

These companies have started to employ staff on less favourable terms and conditions of employment against a backdrop of staffing shortages scheduled to near 250,000 by 2030.

We must stop this situation of “Wholly Owned Subsidiaries” and private healthcare running our NHS departments and organise to keep our NHS in public hands, in the interest of maintaining a health service that is fit for purpose.

NHS should mean NHS, not back door privatisation!
